Bridging the Gap Child Development Scholarship Program Tulsa Community College

There is a shortage of highly qualified teachers who have training and education in the field of infant and toddler development. This critical need has prompted Tulsa Community College to develop a new scholarship program. The scholarship provides full tuition, fees, and books for selected students enrolled in related certificate and associate degree programs. There is additional financial assistance for students desiring to obtain a bachelor's degree in Early Childhood Education at OU-Tulsa.
