This spellbinding new novel from one of America's favorite storytellers is perfect for the holidays,
a delightful novel about a young American woman who finds love and fulfillment in the course of her involvement with a Downton Abbey-style TV show in England.

Nine Perfect Strangers
By Liane Moriarty

Could 10 days at a health resort really
change you forever?
These nine perfect strangers are about to find out ...

Reporter: A Memoir
By Seymour M. Hersh

A memoir of renowned investigative journalist Seymour Hersh's life as a reporter.

Master of His Fate
By Barbara Taylor Bradford

The first book in an expansive, intricately detailed new historical fiction series, Master of His Fate is filled with drama, intrigue and Bradford's trademark cast of compelling characters.

Lincoln's Last Trial: The Murder Case That Propelled Him to the Presidency
By Dan Abrams

The true story of Abraham Lincoln's last murder trial, a case in which he had a deep personal involvement and which played out in the nation's newspapers as he began his presidential campaign.

SUBURBAN ACRES LIBRARY

Since first opening in 1963, Suburban Acres Library has remained a premier neighborhood attraction for residents in North Tulsa. Adjacent to Tulsa Public Schools' McLain Seventh Grade Academy on 46th Street North and North Garrison Avenue, the library is a community gathering place, as well as a safe place, for neighborhood children, youth and families.

"We serve multiple generations of families," said longtime branch manager Sherrie Wallace. "Over time, we serve parents and their children with many of those children eventually returning to Suburban Acres with their own children. We have had the pleasure of assisting grandparents and even some great-grandparents who are raising their children's children. These generations of families continue to utilize Suburban Acres as they feel we are an extended part of their family."

When away from work, Wallace often is referred to as "the library lady" when customers see her in a store, school or some other locale. Longtime children's librarian associate

Beverly Jemison also affectionately is called the same when she is spotted around town.

"We're definitely an extended family at Suburban Acres," said Wallace. "I have two young customers who even call me 'Grandma Sherrie.' I love being able to assist the residents in the community where I grew up. I love being a role model to some who believe that if they are from North Tulsa they cannot succeed. I love shaping and molding young (and even some old) minds."

It's no wonder its customers love Suburban Acres as the staff prides itself in giving extra attention to each person who walks through its doors. "We work to go above and beyond when requests are received, as we strive to meet the needs of a community that continues to experience a digital divide in regards to technology," said Wallace.

The Suburban Acres Library features 20 public computers, a community meeting room, a seed library with seed packets available for checkout, plus a variety of programming offered throughout the year, including an After-School Homework Club during the school year, a quarterly Sista' Chat Book Club, impromptu storytimes and a newly established Teen Book Club. Check the event listings in this guide for more details.

Lois Karklus

Two to three times a week, Lois Karklus quietly slips into Suburban Acres to pick up books, CDs, DVDs and audiobooks she has reserved for her family, and to search the used book sale for any great finds. It's not uncommon for Karklus to have two full shelves of holds waiting for her to check out. She goes to other TCCL locations on occasion, but loves Suburban Acres best. "The staff here are awesome! They are very personable and helpful. Even if they have 12 things going on, they still make time to help everyone."

Diane Johnson

Every morning Diane Johnson arrives at Suburban Acres at opening to claim her favorite spot at the computers so she can look out the window while checking her email, searching the internet for interesting info and visiting with other customers. "I love to come here because it is my neighborhood library, and the staff are very helpful. I also enjoy attending events here. They offered a 'Name That Tune' program this summer. Even though I didn't win, I still had so much fun!"

the Brown family

The Suburban Acres Library staff literally have watched 12-year-old Quincy Brown and his 9-year-old sister, Abigail, grow up. Both true-blue readers and accomplished musicians, the Brown children are homeschooled by their mom, Keyah. "The library definitely plays a role in our children's education," said Keyah. "While the library's technology does make a difference, the librarians add that personal touch." For Quincy, who has been reading since age 3, the Suburban Acres Library is a home away from home. "I like that I am very familiar with it and that the staff know who I am. I feel very comfortable here."

the Suburban Acres family

Sherrie Wallace, branch manager, has worked at Suburban Acres for 20 years and a total of 21 years for Tulsa City-County Library. In her free time, Wallace enjoys reading, swingout dancing, trying new foods and restaurants, and shopping. Her all-time favorite book is Spencer Johnson's Who Moved My Cheese? because of its simplicity, yet strong and encouraging message.

Tiffany Willis, lead customer service assistant, celebrated her 11th anniversary at Suburban Acres this year. When she's not at work, you can find Willis reading, making soaps, working out and watching documentaries. Her favorite title is Gather Together in My Name by Tracey Price-Thompson as this novel gives great insight on race relations, addiction and emotional abuse in the black community. For Willis, the best part about working at the library is that she loves "being a pillar in the community and helping people with things that seem simple to me but seem like trying to move a mountain for them. For example, typing up a résumé ... many customers get overwhelmed and frustrated until we reach out to help them. A lot of people have come back to Suburban Acres to thank us for our help and to announce that they got a job."

an extended family

Linda Hammons Trujillo joined the Suburban Acres team two years ago as a customer service assistant; she previously worked for TCCL in various positions from 1980-1994. Trujillo enjoys reading, traveling, and spending time with friends and family. Her all-time favorite book is One Hundred Years of Solitude by Gabriel García Márquez. "When I read this book, I experience smelling the jungle and feeling the damp earth under my bare feet!"

"Surrounded by books, living the dream" are the words Leiza Pogue used to describe working as a customer service assistant at Suburban Acres, where she started a year ago. Cooking and reading are her passions, while Alexandra Ripley's Scarlett, the sequel to Margaret Mitchell's Gone With the Wind, is her all-time favorite read.

Since 1999, Beverly Jemison has served as children's librarian associate at Suburban Acres. She started at TCCL in 1977 at Central Library in the circulation department. Clean Your Room, Harvey Moon by Pat Cummings is her favorite children's book. "I love working with the staff and I love the freedom of being able to go out into the community to introduce or share reading with everyone!"
