Oatmeal Man is a oat-loving superhero. He works with the B.R.E.A.K.F.A.S.

He does his best work on sunrise.

But this time he didn’t know what was coming.

Meanwhile at the Microwave Company...

Dr. Gordon was making a new invention.

He he! He he!

This might be my best invention yet.

It warms your food and defends your home!
That night before the unveiling. The Mega Microwave escaped. Luckily, Oatmeal Man was up and ready to fight it.

I sure could use some milk. Because milk strengthens bones.

It's a good idea to put milk in oatmeal.

Honey is also better than sugar.

Try to find natural sweeteners at the store.
Sadly, Oatmeal Man needed a bathroom break.

Some kinds of radiation causes diarrhea.

Luckily, Oatmeal helps digestion.

When Oatmeal Man got out of the bathroom, the robot was gone.

Oatmeal Man did research on radiation.

He learned mostly every thing uses radiation. Microwaves use low interferent red light radiation to cook food. Radiation is very bad.
