In order to provide this much-needed service, the library asks the community for volunteers and homework coaches to work with students at any one of our After-School Homework Club locations.

Volunteer homework coaches provide support and assistance to children in grades three through eight who need a little extra help with their homework assignments. These activities take place at the library's five After-School Homework Club sites: Broken Arrow, Brookside, Kendall-Whittier, Maxwell Park and Martin Regional libraries. At each site, homework coaches work alongside the After-School Homework Club facilitators.

After applying, volunteer coaches are provided an orientation to library resources and are trained on how to ask children the right questions to best support their homework needs. Learn more about the After-School Homework Club at www.tulsalibrary.org/homeworkclub.

Books To Treasure MEMORIES

"Growing up I struggled with mild dyslexia and it was pictures that sparked my interest, opening a new world of ideas. What a unique opportunity to share my stories in Tulsa and connect readers to the power of their own imagination through art."

Build A Reader Storytimes

We are taking a break from storytimes this month to gear up for the beginning of the school year. Check back in September for all your favorite storytimes!

Build A Reader helps prepare little ones for future school

Literacy skills are important for children of all ages, whether or not they'll be in school this fall. It's never too early to develop a love of reading in your little ones, and TCCL's Build A Reader program can help you build and maintain that foundation!

What is the Build A Reader program?

The Build A Reader program helps establish a basis for reading and learning success in children from birth to pre-K through these key activities: talking, playing, singing, reading and writing. Research shows that regularly doing these five things will prepare your child to enter kindergarten with better language and learning comprehension skills ... and that's where our storytimes come in!

Our Build A Reader storytimes are led by professional library staff trained in supporting children's literacy and learning development. Parents learn too as storytime leaders demonstrate how and why to incorporate talking, singing, reading, writing and playing when interacting with your children.

Who is storytime for?

Six different storytime types are offered to meet the needs of all burgeoning young readers ages birth to 5 – as well as parents and guardians! Storytime types include Babies (ages 0-2), Toddlers, Babies & Toddlers, Preschool, Family (ages 0-5) and Bilingual (English and Spanish).

How and when can you and your child attend storytime?

Storytimes are on break during August but will resume in September. Check back to view listings in the September Event Guide or ask the children's librarian at your favorite TCCL location!

While you wait for in-person storytime events to return in the fall, you can get storytimes at home through our free Build A Reader app. Search for "Tulsa City-County Library" in your app store on your phone or electronic device. Use it to watch videos demonstrating songs and finger plays as well as find great book recommendations for your young ones.

Learn more about Build A Reader storytimes and find additional resources at www.tulsalibrary.org/kids.
