CELEBRATING 20 YEARS OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN RESOURCE CENTER

For two decades, the American Indian Resource Center (AIRC) has illuminated the rich tapestry of American Indian heritage and cultures in Tulsa County and beyond. As one of only two centers dedicated to the American Indian housed in public libraries, and the only one in Oklahoma, the AIRC is an invaluable hub of historical and contemporary information. Its trove of over 4,000 books, periodicals and multimedia content amplifies the stories, traditions and voices of American Indians.

In addition to its special collection, the AIRC offers cultural and educational programming that celebrates the wisdom, creativity and resilience of Indigenous peoples.

"I focus heavily on the cultural arts and language programs simply because customers ask for them," said Teresa Runnels, AIRC coordinator. "One year, I had an elder thank me for bringing the classes to the library. He explained that he knew he should have learned the language as a child, but his parents wouldn't teach him because of what they had endured. He told me that he now learns about his culture through programs like this. I will always carry that conversation with me."

The AIRC's annual award ceremonies highlight contributions from American Indians nationwide. The American Indian Circle of Honor Award recognizes American Indians who have dedicated their lives to the betterment of Indian Country, while the American Indian Writers Award brings nationally known American Indian authors to Tulsa. Held annually in March, the American Indian Festival of Words offers monthlong programming throughout Tulsa County for all ages to learn about and celebrate American Indian cultures.

“My favorite Festival of Words programs are when I see customers following the programs around the county,” said Runnels. “I have heard people say, ‘Tomorrow we will go to _____ library for another event.’”

While the AIRC helps Tulsa County celebrate American Indian culture and heritage year-round, special events in November are scheduled for Native American Heritage Month. Find upcoming events and activities on Page 8 of this guide.

Una guía mensual de eventos, servicios y recursos de la Biblioteca de la Ciudad y Condado de Tulsa

La Era Digital en la vida de un Adulto

Escrito por Ana Davis, asistente bilingüe de servicio al cliente, Biblioteca Regional Martin

Para un adulto la era digital puede que lo intimide un poco ya que hoy en día el internet se ha vuelto indispensable para la vida cotidiana. Hoy en día muchos no necesitamos de una computadora ya que con nuestros teléfonos inteligentes podemos hacer casi todo, y no solo eso, sino que también nos conecta con gente alrededor del mundo, cuando antes la única forma era por teléfono o enviando una carta; que le pedías Dios que llegara a su destino. Ahora solo basta un clic ¡y ya!

Nos encontramos ante una nueva transformación social, cultural, educativa y económica, ya que no todos los países ni todas las personas tienen las mismas oportunidades de acceder a que hacer, muchos grupos comunitarios prestan servicios gratis como el YWCA, Caridades Católicas y GOOGLE (el Harvard de los humildes) y no podía faltar las bibliotecas de la ciudad y condado de Tulsa no solo ofrecen servicios de uso de computadoras, sino que también ofrecen clases básicas de computación; cada mes las encontraras en la guía mensual, además la biblioteca Regional Martin ofrecen todos los viernes voz y arte, y acceder a exámenes de práctica y guías de estudio para alcanzar tus objetivos educativos y profesionales. Pero si lo que necesitas es una sesión en persona, uno-a-uno para ayudarle a acceder a su cuenta de la biblioteca o el uso de los recursos y servicios de la biblioteca, pregunte en cualquier centro TCCL por Book A Librarian o póngase en contacto con AskUs para solicitar una la alfabetización digital. Mi generación fue testigo de la llegada del Internet a los hogares y de la expansión de su uso educativo, además de la llegada de la era tecnológica a la que muchos nos hemos acostumbrado y nos hemos olvidado de como usar una computadora, ya que todo lo hacemos por medio del teléfono.

Y no es que sea algo malo, pero cuando nos toca crear un currículo de trabajo, o simplemente llenar una aplicación de trabajo muchos de nosotros no sabemos su Open Lab de 10-11 a.m. donde te podrán ayudar con lo básico y lo mejor es que este servicio se presta en español!

Las bibliotecas de la ciudad y condado de Tulsa tienen una guía de clases y eventos que ofrecen gratuitamente a la comunidad. Visita la página www.tulsalibrary.org/online-learning aquí podrás obtener formación profesional en línea, realizar cursos sin créditos sobre casi cualquier tema imaginable, aprender un nuevo idioma, tomar clases de música, cita. Estas sesiones en persona suelen durar entre 30 y 60 minutos y están disponibles por orden de llegada; solo necesitas tu tarjeta de la biblioteca y si no tienes una, visita la página www.tulsalibrary.org/obtener-una-tarjeta-de-biblioteca ¡y aplica por una! Una vez que hallas llenado la información para obtener tu tarjeta, visita tu biblioteca más cercana donde obtendrás tu tarjeta y la información que necesitas para que tengas acceso a estos servicios.
