

A long time ago...

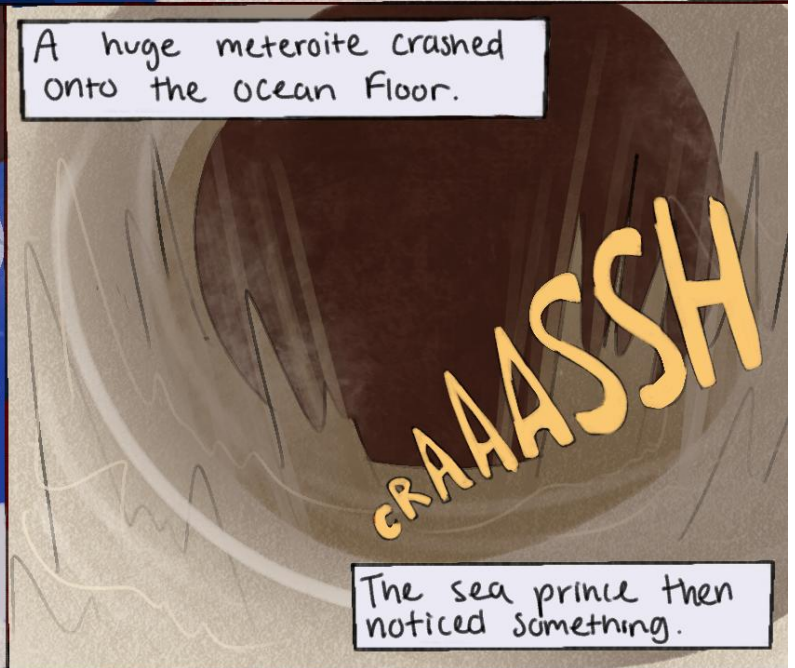

A sea prince explored the ocean floor, collecting valuables for his kingdom.

Then, suddenly...

A huge meteorite crashed onto the ocean floor.

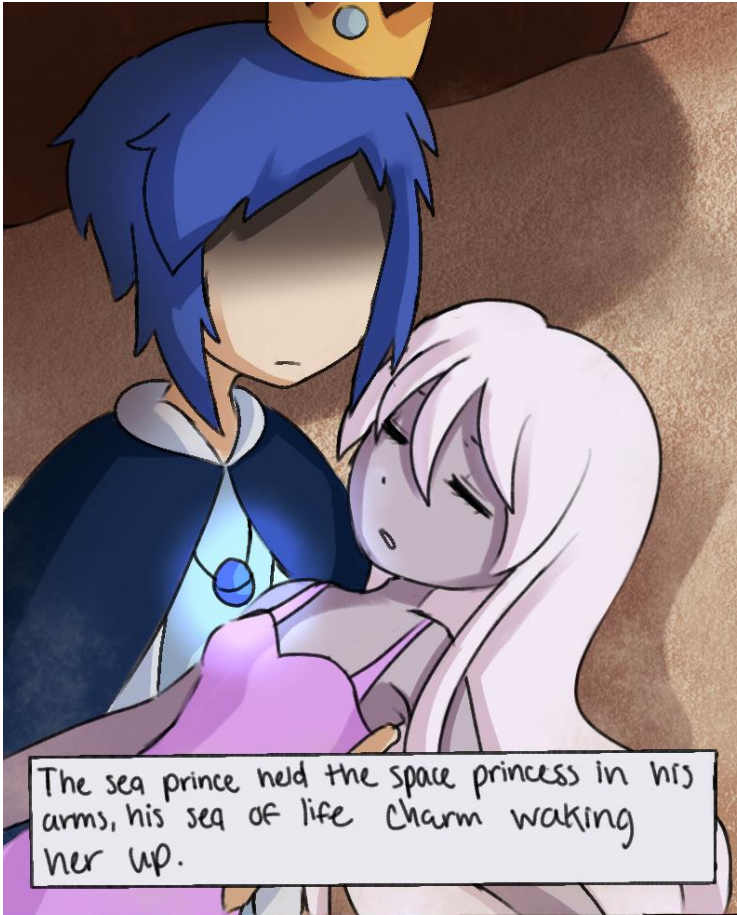

The sea prince then noticed something.

Laying in front of the meteorite..

Was the unconscious space princess.

The sea prince held the space princess in his arms, his sea of life charm waking her up.

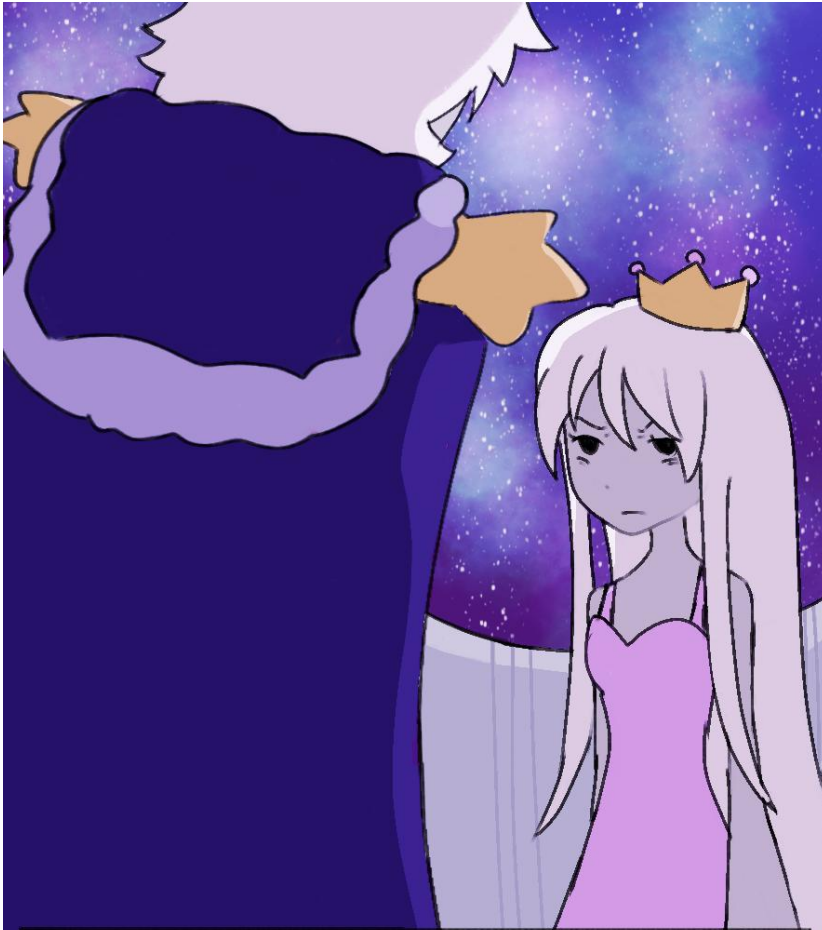

I can help you, dear. Let's go.

everything.. hurts...

The sea prince took her back to his kingdom, asking how and why she crashed onto the ocean floor.

The space princess was furious. Rebelling against her parents, she found a meteor heading towards Earth. She was determined to travel Earth, whether it was dangerous or not.

The space princess wanted to explore Earth. She had asked her parents about it, but they were very strict on her, only isolating her to her home planet. "You're only a princess." their excuse was. They restricted her from traveling through the portal realms that connected Earth and space.

The princess was too weak to travel to the realm portals, so the sea prince took her in to aid her.

The sea prince and space princess had become very close quickly during the span of her stay.

And eventually... they both had fell in love with eachother.

When she was better, the space princess traveled with the sea prince to the realm portals to take her back home. He was upset to see her go, but he made a promise to her.

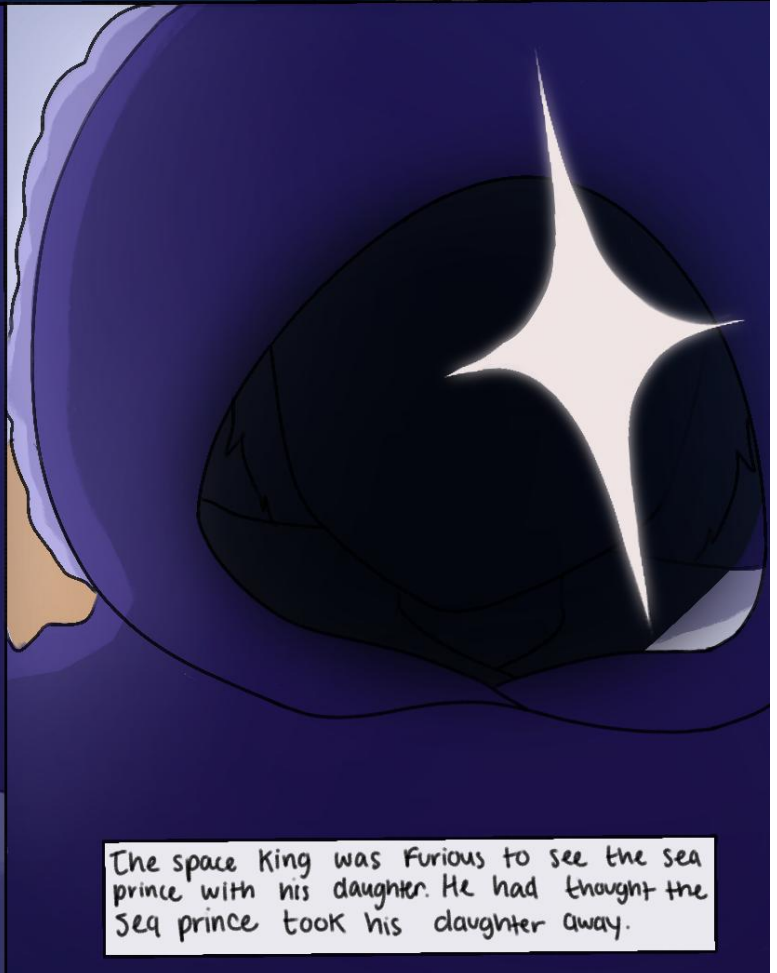

But back on her home planet, people panicked for the missing princess. Her father, the space king, and his army were on the search for her.

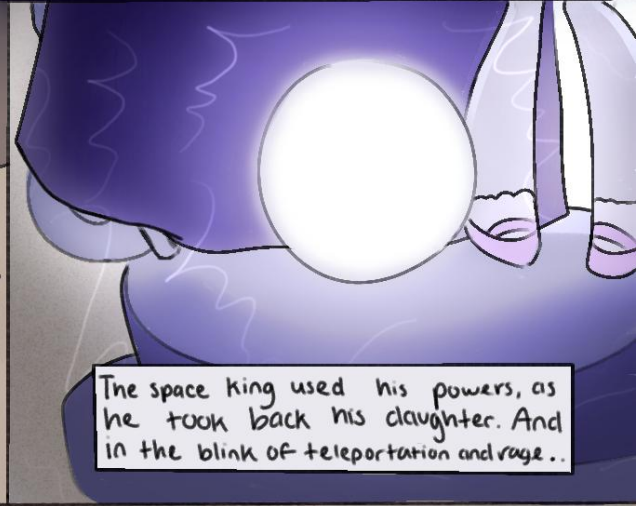

I will always try my best to visit you and your planet, and one day, maybe your father will see how fit we are for each other ...

But suddenly, the space king and his army came through the realm portal.

The space king was furious to see the sea prince with his daughter. He had thought the sea prince took his daughter away.

He had to do anything to see the space princess.

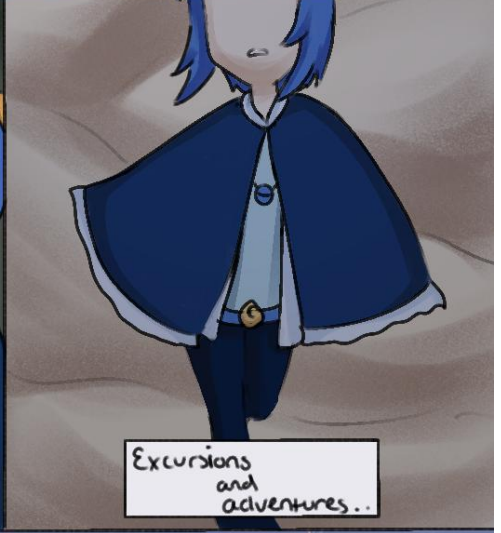

He remembered a book in the ancient library that held the technology of realm portals. But retrieving the materials would be dangerous and life threatening.

And after many tedious...

Brave and dangerous...

Excursions and adventures...

The sea prince finally repaired the realm portal.

My dear...
It's you!

H-How'd you know I'd be here...?
everyday...
i sneaked out at the portal...
waiting and hoping it would maybe have a blink of light and see you...

your love and preserverance ...
opened a new realm... between earth and space

everyday.. lets meet up here in secret. when were older. lets live a life of our own. does that sound like a plan?

Anything for you.

then, the two lovers met up everyday, their future ahead as their love grew. they lived happily ever after. the end.

Wow!!
does the space girl
and sea dude become unstoppable and fight
their evil parents?

Do they have a kingdom
of their own?

eh

who knows

Mom, please say there's more...

eh - well of
course! they probably settled
down, defeated
some monsters
here and there

anyways your dads making crab soup!

Ew.... can
we have something else?

don't be
picky aria..

(The End ☆
☆ ☆ End ☆)