

A PANDA'S DREAM

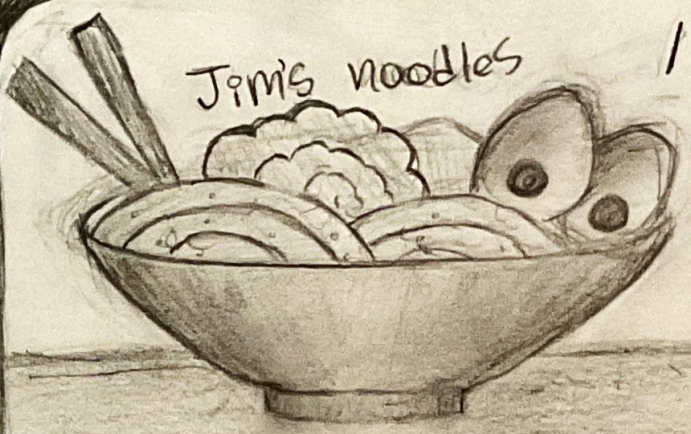

By: Jacob Salas

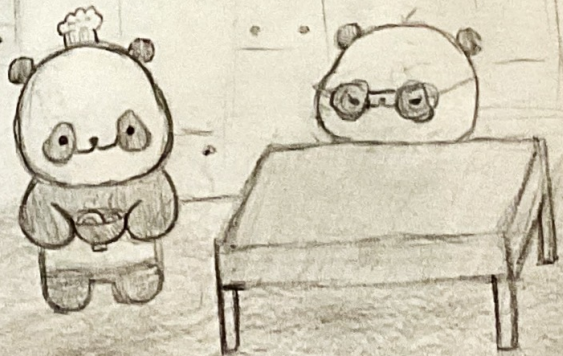

Once Upon a time, there was a panda named Jim and his dream, was to own a noodle shop just like his mother.

As he grew up, Jim cooked noodles every day and night.

and serve them to his old mother.

When Jim finally opened his noodle stand, he waited hours, but still no one came.

EMPTY

Jim thought...

Maybe if I move it down to $10 people will want to come!

So he did...

after a while, Jim finally got his first customer.

Thats how he made his first dollar!

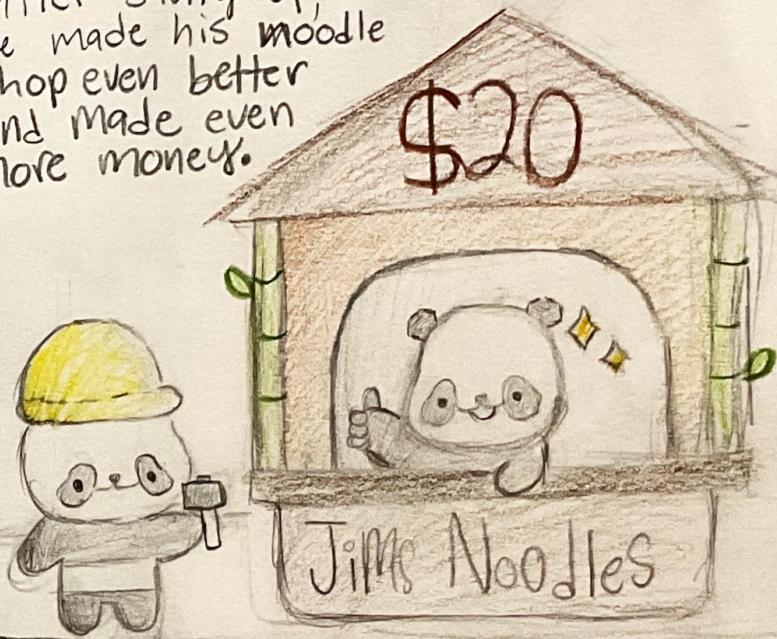

and eventually he started to get more customers.

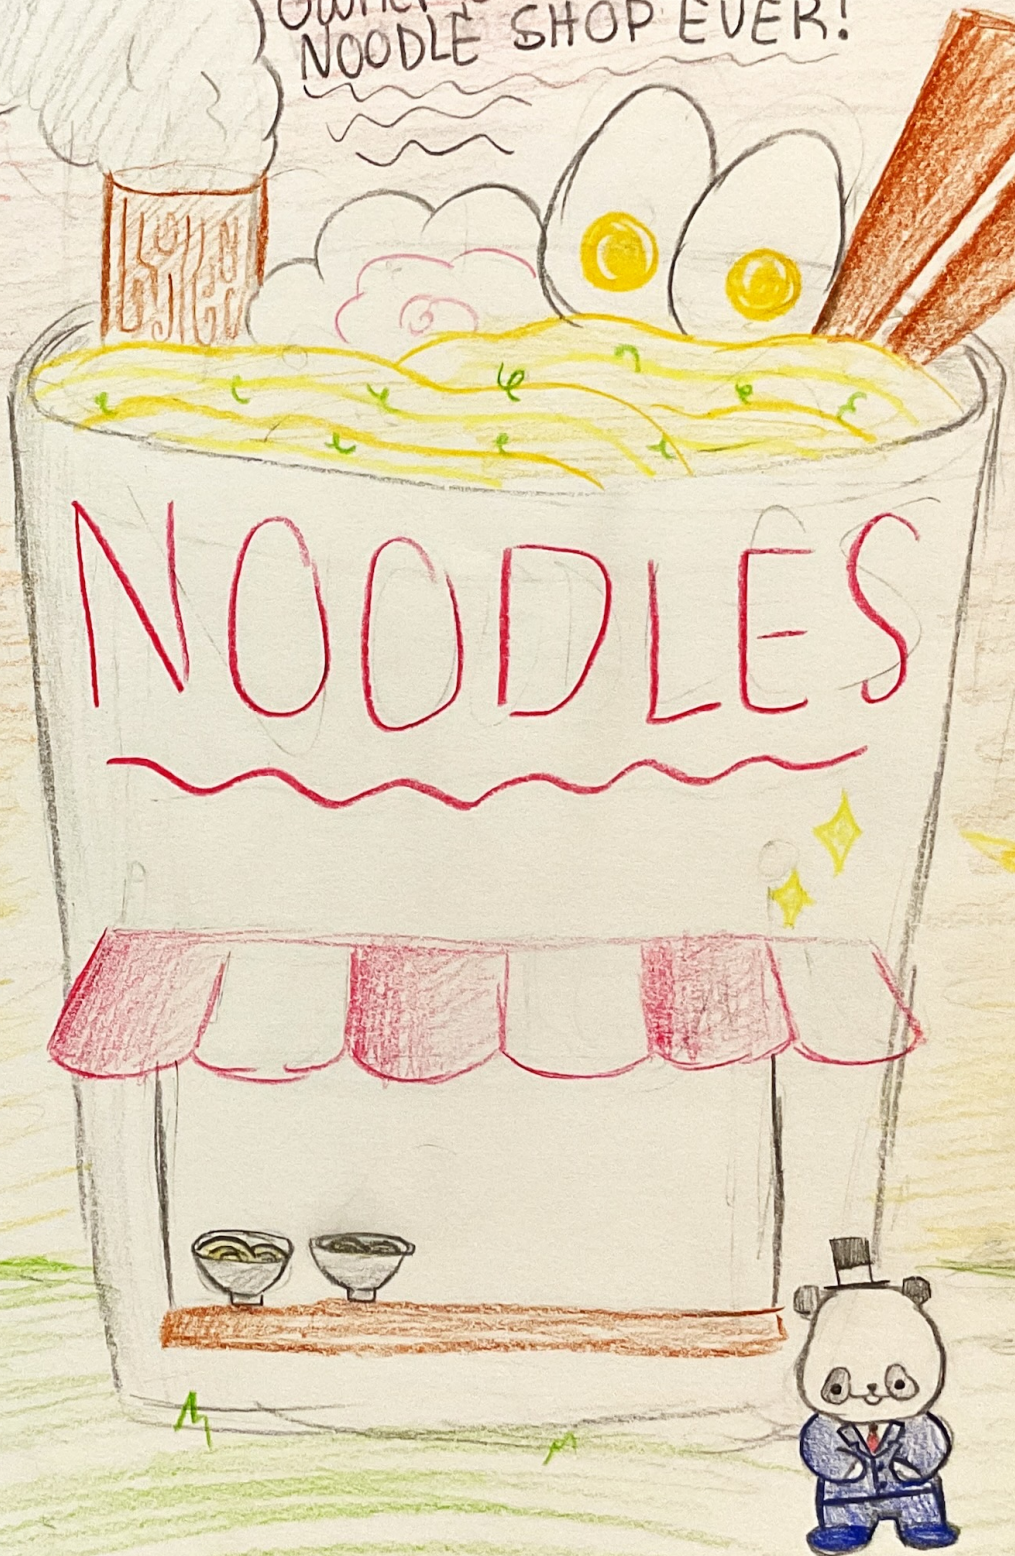

and make more money.

after saving up he made his noodle shop even better and made even more money.

In the end, Jim reached his goal and became the owner of the BIGGEST NOODLE SHOP EVER!

THE

END